Fraser, Fleming, Sharp Elected School Trustees

Substantial Majorities Leave No Doubt on Attitude of Public Towards Policy of Former Trustees—Only One-Third of Eligible Voters Cast Ballots.

Monday's polling was decisive in that it elected three new trustees in place of the three whose terms had expired. The polling was as follows:

Fraser	245
Fleming	237
Sharp	216
Graham	156
Naylor	140
Reid	101

Total votes cast for the three elected was 698, and for the defeated 397, a difference of 301. Quite remarkable was the fact that not a spoiled ballot was among those cast. This constitutes a record in local elections. A few years ago when over 1100 voted in a school trustees election, over 100 spoiled ballots were rejected. Approximately one third of eligible voters cast ballots on Monday. Through not registering during September and October, several were refused ballots who were otherwise eligible to vote.

The three defeated candidates served the ratepayers faithfully. Interviewed by telephone immediately the results were made known Chairman Reid stated that though defeated, he was proud of the achievements of the board during his term as chairman, and had no regrets over the time he had spent on the project. The board and himself had given of their time freely in the interests of the ratepayers, and he hoped they would receive the full benefits from the additional educational facilities provided.

Voting was not heavy, as of over 1100 eligible voters in the district, only 358 ballots were cast. Considerable propaganda had been carried on against the

Town Council

The regular meeting held on Tuesday was presided over by Mayor Pattinson, who returned from his vacation at Victoria during the day. Present, Councillors Haysom, Burrows, Chapman, Plante, Antrobus Allan.

Secretary Ford reported old-age pensions had been granted to Mr. Clapham and Mr. Josephs.

Standing committees of the council were re-appointed the same as last year. In the following order, Haysom, Antrobus, Chapman and Burrows were appointed deputy mayor each for three months during 1937.

The secretary reported receipt of a letter from the provincial relief officials regarding a man named Peltier living near the lake, whose family is on relief, and who is at present at Pincher Creek. The relief committee will check up on this case.

Blairmore Civic Elections Keen Campaign

Workers Slate With Exception of Sam McDowell Elected—Tompkins Loses to Williams by 24 Votes.

Blairmore had a keen civic election campaign in which Enoch Williams gained the mayoralty over C. J. Tompkins by 24 votes. The voting strength of opposing factions is much the same as when A. E. Ferguson contested the mayoralty against "Bill" Knight, at that time favorite of the mine workers. Of the Independent slate opposed to the mine workers, Sam McDowell, telephone manager, was the only one to be elected. The Independent candidates were looked upon by the workers as being to some extent supported by the West Canadian Collieries, and they included Mr. Tompkins in that line-up, though he was independent of any alliances and made a good run on his own merits.

The remnants of the old Communist organization kept their followers in line, though support has dwindled in comparison to a few years ago when anyone opposed to their doctrine never gave a second thought to entering a campaign against them. They take their municipal politics very seriously in Blairmore, and there were some heated discussions during the campaign, in which "Billy" Evans is reported to have taken a prominent part.

Journal Most Effective as Advertising Medium

Mr. Merchant: You will get your share of the business and profits if you consistently use the columns of the Coleman Journal, for you receive at minimum cost, coverage and reader interest, free cut and copy service.

Have you ever seen your home-town newspaper thrown into the gutter or waste paper basket before it was thoroughly read?

A newspaper commands an audience with prospective customers, especially your home paper. It is never thrown aside without first being read from "cover to cover." You never see it littering the front yards, or streets, or annoying the housekeeper.

That is why intelligent, attractive newspaper advertising is known to be the most effective form of advertising for your business.

An advertisement in The Journal will reach the buyers in the local trade territory and will be read by hundreds of people.

Highway Blocked by Drifting Snow

Return to Old Time Experience With Town Cut Off From Automobile Traffic.

For the first time this winter, Coleman was isolated by badly drifted roads east and west on Tuesday. On Monday Sam Moores got as far as Godfrey's farm west of Coleman two miles, to bring in ten school children living near the lake who attend Cameron school, but had to give up the attempt. He stated the highway will be impassable for auto traffic till the snow plow goes through.

Blairmore was also cut off by drifts on Tuesday afternoon, but probably it will be re-opened by local efforts before this appears in print.

The limited equipment of the highways department has been inadequate to keep highways open. The wedge plows in use have not been effective, and this winter has demonstrated the need for rotary plows to keep highways open. Car owners are protesting over lack of snow clearing equipment.

Coleman Curlers Win Trophies at Fernie Bonspiel

Moores' Rink Won West Canadian Cup; Boulton's Rink Brings International Cup Back to Coleman. Bonspiel Next Year Will Be Held Here.

Cold Had No Terrors For This School Pupil

Braving sub-zero temperatures which have prevailed since Christmas, Carman Beck, 14 years, grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Beck of Star Creek Ranch two miles west of Coleman, kept up regular attendance at Coleman high school, until on Monday of this week she was seized with influenza, compelling her to remain at home. This is a record of what might be termed devotion to school study, as some mornings with 30 to 40 below zero it required considerable fortitude even on the part of older people to walk that distance.

Disappointed Voters at Monday's Election

Returning Officer Ford was subjected to unwarranted criticism and in some instances abuse by ratepayers who on asking for a ballot form were refused because they had not complied with the provisions of the Towns, Act and the Schools Ordinances, stating they did not know they had to register, and had not seen any notices. In justice to Mr. Ford, The Journal states that the statutory notices were posted in public places, and also an advertisement with a display heading was published in October 22 issue of The Journal in a prominent position. It is suggested that in future copies of this notice be displayed on election day to avoid confusion and doubt in ratepayers' minds.

If you wish to sell anything in Coleman or vicinity advertise it in this paper.

The Moores and Boulton rinks, Coleman representatives at the C. N. Pass curling bonspiel, held at Fernie last week, curled their way triumphantly to win the finals of the West Canadian and International trophies, two of the five trophies in competition.

The Crows Nest Pass bonspiel will be held in Coleman next year and the local club will endeavor to make it the success that a 'spiel of this importance should be. Sam Moores has been elected president of the association and states he wants at least ten rinks to be entered locally. Old time skips have pledged themselves to organize a rink each and enter it in the bonspiel. The local curlers are loud in their praise of Fernie hospitality, stating Fernie citizens and curlers did their utmost to give the visiting curlers a cordial welcome.

Miners to Meet on Sunday

Notices announce that a regular meeting on Feb. 14, at 2.30 in the Community hall, will elect a committee to negotiate the new agreement, as the present 2-year agreement with the companies expires on March 31.

Another matter for discussion is the case of Alex Kotch, who through an old injury to his eye, has been placed on outside work in place of working as a miner.

Protecting Democracy

Great Britain, and with Great Britain the other units which comprise the British Empire, to-day the outstanding exponent of the democratic form of government which her people have developed over a thousand years, as the most satisfactory form of administration, self-administration.

It is a form of government which has evolved from trial and error over a long period of successive experimentation resulting as Tenney has pointed out in freedom "which has slowly broadened down from precedent to precedent." In other words, democracy as the British peoples enjoy it, is a structure which has been built up step by step as conditions and demands warranted, each progressive stage.

It can be admitted without hesitation that democratic government has its weaknesses and will continue to present facets of disadvantage to the gods who sit on Olympian heights and gaze down upon human endeavors until the day, if ever, when mankind becomes perfect. The point, however, is that this heritage of democracy and the freedom on which it is based has become a very precious thing to the people of Anglo-Saxon origin, no matter in what part of the globe they may be domiciled. It is a heritage that has become built into the fibre of the British people and one which they can be counted upon to fight to the last ditch to preserve.

Yet conditions the world over to-day appear to conspire to endanger the continued existence of the right of the British people to govern themselves and of that of other countries which have adopted a self-expressive type of administration.

Right and left wing European countries are again engaged in a mad scramble to build up powerful war machines, each one vying to outdo an imaginary opponent or group of opponents, resulting in the construction of such a terrifying aggregation of armaments of such tremendous destructive potentialities as to thoroughly alarm the democratic countries, who to-day find their armies and equipment practically impotent in comparison, and to force them into the mad competition, if only for purely defensive necessity.

Already some of the countries which started the race for martial supremacy have at their command forces which far exceed, numerically and in power, anything that was unleashed in the Great War of 1914-18 but also overshadow the effective defensive machines of the democratic countries, of which Great Britain is the recognized leader on the other side of the Atlantic.

The very existence of such tremendous fighting machines constitute a serious menace to the peace of Europe and perhaps of the whole world, for democracies have awakened to a realization that they must sooner or later be dragged into any conflict involving several of the more important continental powers and that if they are unprepared for defense, if not for aggression, they are inviting disaster, involving possibly a complete rout and disintegration of democracy.

This, at any rate, is the attitude and the viewpoint of the British people at the moment and they are hastily mending their weak fences at considerable expense to the taxpayers, so that they may not be caught off guard and impotent. As chief exponent and custodian of democracy in Europe they realize that they have something important to protect, not only for themselves but for others.

With the League of Nations now little better than a broken prop the British recognize they must rely upon themselves and their own resources of men, munitions and equipment for the defence of democracy in Europe, should necessity for defence arise, and they have reasonable grounds for fear that such occasion may be precipitated in view of the aggressive and militant trend which is being displayed in some of the continental countries. They have also come to a realization that the aim upon which their defence rested so surely in the past, the navy, would be little or no assistance to ward off attack from the air. And this is the source from which attack must be expected, if an attack comes, in the light of the great strides which have been made in military aeronautics in the past few years, and the huge aerial forces which have been built up and are being augmented as fast as men and mechanical equipment can turn them out.

Motor Accidents In U.S.

Deaths Reach A Total Of 38,500 In 1936

Motor vehicles accident deaths in the United States reached record total of 38,500 in 1936, the National Safety Council said, exceeding the previous mark of 37,000 set in 1935.

Tornadoes, floods, excessive heat and increased employment helped push the 1936 total of accident deaths from all causes to 111,000, wiping out the 1934 record of 101,139.

The council added that accidents permanently disabled about 400,000 persons and temporarily disabled 10,300,000 others.

Council figures showed that while traffic deaths increased four per cent, in number, automobile registration jumped eight per cent, over the 1935 total to 28,270,000, "a greater number than ever before traveled American streets and highways," and that these vehicles travelled 225,000,000 miles, or 22,000,000,000 more than in any other recorded year.

The World's Airlines

Remarkable Increase In Mileage During Last 17 Years

Recent statistics for the mileage of air-lines in operation throughout the world now bring the total to a figure approaching 300,000. Seventeen years ago, when the first commercial services were established, the total of the world's air routes was not much over 3,000. In the following year, however, it jumped to nearly 10,000. By 1921 it was over 12,000. By 1924 it had reached the 20,000 mark. After this it rose steadily to the present figure.

Menace To Everyone

Even Royalty Cannot Escape Accidents On Highway

"Accidents are no respecters of person," said W. G. Robertson, general manager of the Ontario Motor League, commenting on the fact that in less than a year and a half three royal personages have been involved in automobile crashes within a comparatively small area in Europe. "You may be a king or a queen, you may be a tramp, but you're just as much in danger of ending up in an automobile accident. This is an indication for the universal application of the rules of safe driving."

On Aug. 29, 1935, the world was shocked to learn of the death of beautiful Queen Astrid of the Belgians while motoring with her husband, King Leopold, near Lake Lucerne, Switzerland. The car, driven by the king, skidded and ran into a tree.

An Austrian police officer was the hero when Queen Wilhelmina of Holland had a narrow escape from falling 600 feet to her death recently. On the slippery roads near Innsbruck, a short distance from the Swiss border in Austria, one wheel of the royal car slid over the edge of the steep precipice. Before the rest of the car could follow, a police officer riding in another car ran up and put his shoulder to the queen's automobile to keep it in place. The queen stepped out calmly and unharmed.

Following day Edward, Duke of Windsor, was driving from Vienna to the castle of his host, Baron Eugene de Rothchild, when another automobile skidded at a cross roads and crashed into the duke's car. The latter was shaken up, but got out and chatted with the scared driver of the other car. Noting that his chauffeur was unharmed, the duke took the wheel and drove the rest of the way home.

Fish Returned To Ocean

Were Bought From Aquarium By Man Who Liberated Them

After being in captivity for nearly two years, 500 fish from the Portland aquarium in Dorset, England, were returned to the sea. Their liberation followed an attempt to sell the £1,500 ($7,500) aquarium by auction.

Efforts to obtain a bid for the fish failed, but when the auctioneer pointed out that it would be a pity to let them die in the tanks, Louis Bassano, Wycombe driver, said to the rest of the aquarium, Fox Davies: "I will give you 10s ($250) for the fish as they swim." This offer was declined and the auctioneer made an attempt to sell the fish in lots.

Louis Bassano was persistent. "I will give you £1 ($5) if you will undertake to net the fish and put them back into the sea," he said, and his offer was accepted.

Immediately after the sale an army of helpers assisted the proprietor to catch the fish and dump them into the West bay. All sorts of fish, from huge congers to prawns and shrimps, were carried over the pebbles in tin baths and dropped into the sea.

Learn From Experience

Dining Car Caterers Know Food Public Will Demand

The infrequent traveller often wonders how the railway dining car can carry food enough to cater to the varying demands of the travelling public. Actually, it doesn't. The caterers know just about what the public will demand from the menu, and the supplies of each kind of food varies accordingly. Through long experience it has been determined that out of every 100 diners 50 will order coffee and 15 that 35 will order roast beef and the rest will order chicken, fish, chops and steak in the order named. — Edmonton Journal.

The King's Honors List

Queen Elizabeth's Name Is First In New Reign

First honors in the first honors list of the new reign go to Queen Elizabeth.

On her majesty, the king conferred the title of Dame Grand Cross of the Royal Victorian Order. Of the same order the queen was also appointed grand master.

The Duke of Gloucester, Kent and Connaught, Prince Arthur of Connaught, the Earls of Athlone and Harewood and Lord Louis Mountbatten, all members of the royal family, were appointed personal aides-de-camp to the king. The Duke of Gloucester was granted a commission as air vice-admiral in the Royal Air Force.

Lord Greenwood, a native of Whitby, Ont., with a viscountcy heads the list of peers, baronets and knights appearing in the deferred new year's honors. But he is the only Canadian and for long has been a resident of the United Kingdom. As on the previous occasion, the birthday honors of King Edward VIII, no Canadian list was included. A number of knighthoods went to India, Australia and New Zealand were the only dominions appearing. Newfoundland, which is under a commission of government, drew some of the honors.

Lord Greenwood left Canada at the age of 25, with little in the way of money or practical experience but with a wealth of ambition. Once in England, he struggled to make ends meet while completing his legal education. Then his rise was rapid, as a lawyer, member of parliament and member of the cabinet.

Odd Police Record Set

Railway Officer Served Forty Years Without Making Arrest

William C. Sparks, of London, who has just retired after 40 years of service as a railway policeman in Great Britain, can boast a record probably unequalled anywhere in the world. During the whole of this period he never made an arrest. "Prevention is better than cure," he says, "and I shall always maintain that a good police officer can prevent crime." His colleagues agree that he could. He used to talk so convincingly and so humanely to offenders that they would abandon whatever criminal project they were contemplating and try going straight.

Substitute For Olive Oil

English Wool Manufacturers Using One Evolved From Peanuts

The war in Spain has brought opportunity to the peanut. And the peanut has made good in a big way. When Spain's dwindling supply of olive oil caused the price to run up to $450 a ton, woolen manufacturers in England, who use the oil extensively, searched for a substitute. Walter Garner, a chemist of Bradford, has evolved one from peanuts which is declared to be as efficient, yet costing only $250 a ton.

Need Empire Help To Share Expenses In Rearmament Program

London.—Possibility of the Dominion sharing expenses of the new rearmament program was put forward by The Sunday Times.

The dominions, the paper says, "could not, for example, continue to enjoy the priceless advantage of her best protection if they allowed Great Britain to be crushed through the air."

"The rearmament is at present a heavy charge on the taxpayer, the contribution now being four times that of 1914, when Great Britain alone had the highest tax rate in the world."

"The burden of armaments will be far heavier than in any period of peace in our history. The line of security is to survey and utilize as far as possible the resources of the whole empire for the empire's defence."

Through her program of rearmament and defensive preparedness Great Britain now has reached the stage where she is ready for any eventuality and this policy of preparedness has actually brightened the outlook for peace in Europe. In the opinion of Sir Thomas Inskip and Alfred Duff Cooper.

Sir Thomas, minister for defence co-ordination, and Duff Cooper, the secretary for war, spoke at different parts of the country Saturday.

Addressing the Farnham Conservative association, Sir Thomas expressed hope Britain never again would make the mistake of allowing defences to fall into a state of disrepair, which was the case up to two years ago.

"It was a very costly experiment," he said. "It was done with the best of motives. We tried to show what an honest attempt at disarmament meant. We took a risk and it has cost tens of millions of pounds to re-equip the nation."

Sir Thomas hoped war, so much talked about, would never come. "I deem I think things are very much brighter to-day, but we must put our three services into a proper state of repair, give them the equipment they need and we must not stop when the present panic or crisis is over. Rearmament was not a final goal," he said, but it must march side by side with a policy of appeasement which would bring satisfaction to Britain and other nations of the world. "But we are equally determined we shall have a force adequate to defend ourselves and our interests."

U.S. Flood Loss

Economists Estimate Loss Around Six Hundred Million Dollars.

Washington.—United States government economists estimated the flood loss to business in stricken areas will total around $600,000,000, based on loss of business property and equipment, crippled trade and weakened purchasing power. The estimate did not include damages to homes and other losses of private individuals.

Amended Regency Bill Is Agreed To By British Dominions

London.—The amended regency bill was approved without division in the House of Commons after Attorney-General Sir Donald Somervell stated the Dominions had agreed to it.

"The Dominions have been kept informed and have agreed to our passing a bill for the United Kingdom," he said. "The exact effect of the bill will have on them (the Dominions), in our view, is a matter for them to consider and if any statement is desired to be made it is for them to make it."

"It would be very unwise," he added, "for the United Kingdom government to make statements on this matter."

The bill was sent to the house of lords. It provides, briefly, for appointment of a regent in the event of a sovereign becoming wholly incapacitated or of a sovereign ascending to the throne under the age of 18 years. The regent would be the adult next in line of succession. That is, should the king become incapacitated or die before the age of 18, the regent would be the Duke of Gloucester, the king's brother.

Many Clauses Obscure

Commission Counsel Asks For Clarification Of Customs Act

Ottawa.—Clarification of the Customs act was recommended by J. C. McRuer, commission counsel, as argument continued before Justice W. F. A. Turgeon's royal commission probing the textile industry. Obscurity of many of the clauses of the act relating to dumping duties was mentioned upon by counsel.

Section 36 of the Customs act sets forth that "the value for duty of new or unused goods shall in no case be less than the actual cost of production." How could the department establish the cost of production of any goods in Japan or United States, the commissioner asked.

"It cannot," replied Mr. McRuer. He recalls the difficulties experienced by the commission in its efforts to get production costs of goods in Canadian factories, as emphasizing the impossibility of obtaining these particulars in foreign countries.

Asks Quotations On Wheat

Government Of Spain Plans To Import 300,000 Tons

Valencia, Spain. The Spanish government announced it would receive price quotations on 300,000 tons of wheat it plans to import.

The wheat must be convertible into at least 78 per cent. of its volume of flour, with a minimum of chaff. Preference would be given to offers made in a Mediterranean port, particularly if based on an exchange for Spanish products, such as olive oil.

It was insisted the price quoted at the time of the offer must be subject to no future change. In line with civil war requirements, the industries ministry requisitioned all stocks of cotton, wool, silk and their by-products, either raw or manufactured.

Drafting Airway Bill

Plans For Western Route Will Give Good Service

Ottawa. Bill establishing a company to operate the trans-Canada airway is being drafted by legal experts and is to be introduced in the House of Commons, transport department officials said.

Plans for the western route are understood to envisage the trans-Canada airway in the morning of the mail posted after the close of the previous day in Toronto, Montreal and adjoining points. On the west-bound flight the plane would reach Vancouver in the afternoon. East-bound flights would leave Vancouver early in the afternoon and cross the mountains before dark.

Build More Ships

London.—Orders have been issued for laying the keels of two 5,000-ton British cruisers on March 15, Sir Samuel Hoare, first lord of the admiralty, announced in the House of Commons.

Labor assailed provisions of the bill which would form a committee of six, any three of whom could act, to decide whether or not a sovereign was wholly incapacitated.

Finally an amendment was carried deleting from the group the person who would be regent, leaving the group to be comprised of the husband or wife of the sovereign, if more than 18 years of age, the lord chancellor, the speaker of the house of commons, the lord chief justice and the master of the rolls. Any three or more of these persons could act.

At the instance of D. C. Logan, Labor, the home secretary, Sir John Simon, expressed willingness to ensure the advice of a physician would be sought before the group reached a decision as to the sovereign's capacity to act.

A charge by William Gallacher, Communist, that the bill was directed against the present occupant of the throne brought a heated reply from Earl Winterton, Conservative, who said the assertion was "monstrous" and "without the slightest vestige of foundation."

War Spirit Rampant

Excludes All Considerations Of Morality In International Relationships

Toronto.—Unsettled conditions throughout the world were due to nations reverting to the pre-war conception of relationship between governments, said J. W. Dufour, editor-in-chief of The Winnipeg Free Press, in an address to the Women's Canadian Club here.

"The post-war idea of the keeping of peace being an obligation upon all nations has been submerged," he stated. "It may return, of course, but for the time being that great idea has vanished from the world and we are back to a conception that excludes all consideration of morality in international relationships."

Before 1914 when the possibility of war was suggested conditions were just a Sunday school picnic compared with the maelstrom of enmity, passion, ambitions and preparations existing at present.

"It is not possible to be optimistic," Mr. Dufour said. "If the piling up of armaments, the regimentation of people and the constant interchange of threats between nations must continue, war is inevitable, given time, and perhaps it will come soon rather than later."

Ship Battered At Sea

Norwegian Captain Reports Storm Worst Experienced In 50 Years

London.—Storm battered, the Norwegian steamship Tiltborn reached the Thames from Vancouver without a foremast, its bows smashed in and most of its deck cargo of timber missing.

Captain R. Rasmussen said a four-day, mid-Atlantic storm was the worst he had known in his 50 years at sea. The steering gear and rudder were smashed by high seas, the crew's quarters were flooded, and the gale broke the wireless equipment and carried away the foremast.

Temporary repairs were effected to the rudder and wireless after the storm blew itself out.

The Tiltborn was the second craft from Vancouver within a week to report a hammering from the storm. The British freighter Geddington Coast reached Liverpool with two-thirds of her deck cargo gone, her mainmast smashed, the rear topmast lost overboard, ventilators stove in and deck rails partially stripped.

Paid Its Way

Post Office Department Shows Slight Profit For 1936

Ottawa.—During the past year the post office department more than paid its way, Hon. J. C. Elliott, post-master-general, told the House of Commons. Last year's receipts were $41,117,199, less $6,816,161 paid to commission postmasters. Total disbursements were $30,100,000 but this did not take into account rentals and maintenance of buildings.

Sues Bank Of Italy

London.—The Bank of Egypt brought suit against the Bank of Italy for recovery of funds on deposit with the defunct Bank of Ethiopia in Addis Ababa. The Bank of Italy claims it is not the successor of the Ethiopian bank.

For New Outlook

Hon. T. D. Pattullo Speaks Of Attitude Of East Towards The West

Montreal.—People of eastern Canada, in the opinion of Hon. T. D. Pattullo, would do well to search for a new attitude toward western Canada.

Declaring western Canada understood the east because "most of us come from there," the British Columbia premier declared in a press interview that it was a waste of time trying to apply regimented views, which the east seemed to be taken with, to westerners and western conditions.

"We are essentially individualists," declared the premier.

He suggested the atmosphere was becoming befogged with generalities about finances. The east, he said, still was thinking of the west as a peculiar problem, whereas westerners with their own peculiar problems, were trying to move ahead progressively and sanely.

Referring to British Columbia, the premier said: "Undoubtedly the province is prospering and that prosperity cannot be laid to any one industry. It is the result of a wide-spread development."

Discuss Irish Questions

Recent Conversations In London Were Of Informal Nature

Public. His recent conversations with Dominions Secretary Malcolm MacDonald at London were informal, President De Valera told the Irish Free State parliament. "The conversations ranged over the principal matters at issue between the Free State and Great Britain," he said in response to a question. "As the conversations were informal, there was no question of arriving at any agreement on the matters at issue."

Improvement Is Shown

Toronto. Canada's per capita income improved 10.3 per cent. in 1936 over 1935, R. J. Wright, director of research of J. J. Gibbons Company, said a service club meeting here. The figure showed a total income increase of more than $440,000,000, he said.

British Opinion Shows Return Of Colonies To Germany Is Impossible

London.—It is gradually becoming plain that Hitler's Reichstag speech is having a profound effect on British public opinion.

Hitler's demand "for the restoration of German colonies, in view of the agreement with Tokyo whereby Japan would forego its claim to former German colonies, is construed as a direct challenge to Britain. During the past week all sections of the British public have had the opportunity to pronounce upon Hitler's proposal.

Notwithstanding his assertion that Germany will never rest until its colonies are restored, British opinion is unanimously opposed. Little Englanders, big Englanders, Conservatives, Liberals, Laborites, Socialists and Communists, all agree that the return of the colonies is impossible.

It is being recalled that Sir John Simon, when foreign secretary, told Hitler that matter was undiscussable and the view is held in responsible quarters that Hitler knows the impossibility but intends by propaganda to inflame the German people. This he has already done in respect to Russia.

The unanimity of British opinion is due to many reasons. The imperialists are adamant against the surrender of a square inch of British possessions. Others argue that so long as Hitler persists in building up his war machines it is impossible to give up colonies which would be convertible into naval air bases menacing the arterial air routes of the British Empire. Still others refuse to agree that the greater area of the world be subject to acute nationalist policies, deemed essential to future German conquests.

The "New Statesman" sums it up as follows:

"There is not one man or woman of sense in England—no matter how strongly they have criticized the injustice of Versailles and worked for German equality—who would vote territorial transfers of colonies to the reich unless they are satisfied of the validity of the three assurances on Germany's part: that colonies regained would not be utilized as bases for preparation of war and that transferred populations would not be subjected to totalitarian discipline abhorrent to democratically-minded people; and that inclusion of colonies into the economic system of Germany would not mean sterilization of still further portions of the map of the world."

At one end of the economic ladder, "The Banker," representing financial opinion of the city of London, in this week's issue practically brands Hitler's speech as blackmail.

Writ Seldom Used

Man Held By Edmonton Court As Surety For Brother

Edmonton. Taken into custody on a writ seldom issued of fieri facias, William Sawchuk was held by police here. William had signed a $100 surety for the appearance in police court of his brother Steve.

But Steve failed to appear when his name was called in court, so court officials decided to hold William until either the $100 is paid or Steve returns.

Literary translation of fieri facias is "cause it to be done," but in this case it is a writ to collect a sum due the crown.

Gift From Canada

London. Canada has presented the Empire Museum library with 68 copies of 12 different films describing life in the Dominion. This was in response to an appeal by the director of the Imperial Institute to Empire governments concerning a shortage of reels in the library.

House Of Commons Rejects Woodsworth's Neutrality Resolution

Ottawa. The House of Commons rejected the neutrality resolution of James S. Woodsworth, C.C.F. leader. The Woodsworth resolution was rejected without a recorded vote after Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, speaking for the government, declared that in a mad world Canada must take steps to defend its shores and that he would not shirk his duty to support proper defence measures.

Fernand Rinfret, secretary of state, declared the resolution was "either futile or abominable." If some power sent an expeditionary force against this country, he declared it would not suffice for Mr. Woodsworth "to stand on the wharf at Halifax or Vancouver and wave his resolution."

Canada would cease to be neutral if foreign armies started shooting he added.

Mr. Woodsworth ended the debate by asserting that "armaments mean war."

He ended with an attack on increased expenditures proposed in the national defence estimates and declared Canada appeared to be building up forces that would fit into the "imperialist machine like spare parts."

It was all very well to talk of neutrality, Mr. Lapointe said, but the nations of the world had been bound so closely together by science that the thought of one man associated with the fate of the other.

The proposed resolution was destructive rather than constructive. It would advertise that Canada would do nothing to prevent war, in spite of the fact that the supporters of the motion had "given lip service" to the League of Nations. Its adoption would mean Canada's withdrawal from the league.

He would not say the League of Nations had failed but that some nations had failed the league and the resolution proposed that Canada add to those failures.

Neutrality as proposed in the resolution, would mean secession of Canada from the British commonwealth of nations, Mr. Lapointe said. It would mean Canada could remain on friendly terms with a country at war with Canada's king and remain on trading relations with an active enemy of the crown.

History had shown, said Mr. Lapointe, that when a crisis arose matters were not decided by resolution or even by laws which had been passed. They were decided by the circumstances of the time and, unfortunately, often by passions and feelings.

In Canada they should be decided by parliament and no one parliament could by any resolution bind its future parliaments.

"We are in a splendid position geographically," said Mr. Lapointe, "and we thank God for it. But we are mistaken if we believe that other nations are not thinking of Canada and its resources."

The problem of distributing natural resources among the nations was far from being solved and Canada's resources were coveted in certain parts of the world.

If there was a war arising out of the conflict between Communist and Fascist decline Canada should not spend one cent or one life in defence of either of them," he said.

Even at the height of the fight against conscription in 1917 every French-Canadian was ready to give his life for the defence of Canada.

This sign above a Cincinnati emergency relief cafeteria, warning volunteers to wash their hands in solution, is graphic indication of the precautions taken to avoid a widespread epidemic as a result of unsanitary conditions following the flood.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

YOU MAY tell people in other lands of the fine bracing climate we have in Alberta, and feel somewhat superior about it because you venture forth when the temperature is 30, 40 or 50 below. When it gets below that, it doesn't matter very much what it is, for the land wouldn't be worth living in if it continued.

IT DOES breed a race of vigorous hardy people who endure these sub-zero temperatures with almost as much equanimity as 80, 90 and 100 degrees in the summer. From extreme cold to extreme heat we have a range of anything up to 150 degrees, and think very little of it.

SOME living outside of the province have been unkind enough to remark that is why Alberta is such fertile ground for all sorts of try-it-once remedies, such as rain-makers, Prosperity Certificates and dividends to all. Climate may have some effect on the mentality of people, and the extremes may make us jittery, but at that Alberta really has a fine climate; at least you feel in duty bound to say so if you live in it. Those who live in steam heated houses have little cause to complain; but to those who work and live in clapboard houses with water-pipes an inch or two below the surface, cold weather such as experienced during January and February makes it a constant battle of trying to beat Jack Frost.

NOTHING can be done to control the weather. One might dig a hole in the ground and just hibernate till the worst is over, like they do in the Arctic regions, but here we do not store up enough grub to tide us over such periods of confinement, either because we are too improvident or because we cannot afford it. Whichever way you look at it, life is no bed of roses, no matter if you live in balmy California or the rigorous climes of northern Canada.

WHEN the water pipes were first laid here, the job was apparently done like much other construction work—in the most expeditious and cheapest way. As a result, every winter heavy costs are incurred in addition to the inconvenience of homes being without water. It keeps crews of workmen busy thawing service connections, and besides there is a very heavy leakage which has to be made up by constant pumping. This all adds to the consumer's costs, and over a few years he pays far more than it would take to re-install the service connections, by placing them below the frost line. The town has reached the stage where all improvements should be carried out on a longer range basis than just meeting immediate needs.

RELIEF COSTS to Coleman taxpayers are increasing. The mayor's statement last week showed that out of total taxes of approximately $15,000, the net amount paid out for relief was $2,755.00, or nearly one fifth of the municipal taxes. This is a heavy proportion. Relief in Coleman as in other cities is already in some cases becoming a racket, and heavy grocery bills are incurred to feed these indigent cases. In fact, these monthly or weekly handouts are looked upon as wages for doing nothing by the type of recipient who finds it easier to be on relief than make honest attempts to earn some money or work for the town in return for relief. One instance of an account passed at a council meeting, $42 for a month's groceries for one family, will make working people sit up and wish they could get as liberal allowances for doing nothing.

WHAT A MAGIC Tonic is Spring. Early it is to believe it is here, but after such an intensely cold month interspersed with snowstorms and blizzards, the break which came on Wednesday made everybody feel that life was again pleasant and well worth living.

THE JOURNAL office faces the new high school. For the past four months the familiar figure of past Chairman Reid of the trustees has been seen daily making his trip of inspection to keep posted on the progress of the building. After Monday and the voters' decision at the polls, he no longer comes down, though he must have a feeling in his heart he would like to have seen it to completion. Many others think so, too, in their calmer moments.

His Money's Worth

The man walked into a restaurant, ornate in its futuristic decorations and reeking with an atmosphere of high price. He was ushered to a table and immediately ordered a glass of water. The waiter brought the water, which the man swallowed with one gulp, and asked for another glass of water. While the waiter was away the man took out a small package of sandwiches and spread them on the table. No sooner was this done than a severe looking individual came to the table and said:

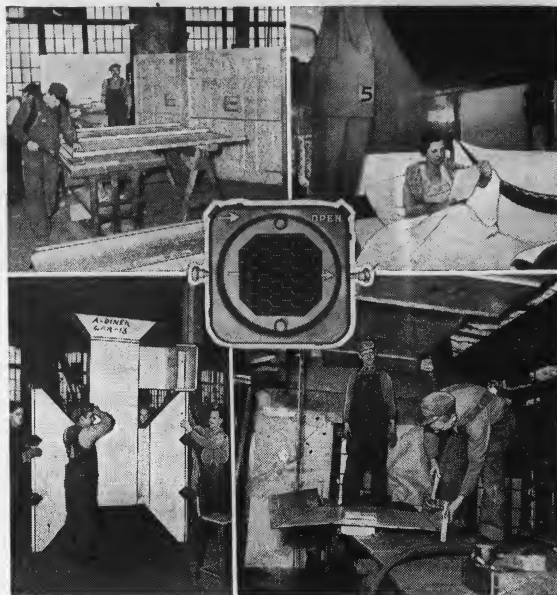

"I beg your pardon, sir, but this isn't—" man.

"I am the manager," was the impressive reply.
"Good!" said the man. "I was just going to send for you. Why isn't the orchestra playing?"—American Legion Monthly.

Canadian Pacific Extends Air-Conditioned Service

The Canadian Pacific Railway Angus Shops at Montreal are humming with activity these days as the company continues its comprehensive programme of air-conditioning. In the current year, air-conditioning equipment will be added to 156 cars, including standard sleepers, dining cars, tourist sleepers, parlor cars, and lay coaches, and these, in addition to the 120 cars air-conditioned in 1936, will permit a very considerable extension of air-conditioned services throughout the Dominion.

Provision is made by the 1937 programme to provide air-conditioned dining cars on all trains carrying air-conditioned sleepers or parlor cars, besides additional sleeping and parlor cars for use on trains between Montreal and Quebec, Montreal and Ottawa, Toronto and Ottawa, and trains 39 and 40 between Montreal and Saint John, N.B. Air-conditioning of tourist cars for use on the transcontinental trains between Vancouver and Montreal and Toronto is a new and interesting feature of the 1937 programme. This will supplement last year's services which allowed air-conditioned standard sleepers, compartment-lounge, bedroom and parlor cars to be used on transcontinental trains between Montreal, Toronto, and Vancouver; the Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, Chicago services; and the night trains between Montreal and Boston. Air-conditioned sleepers and lounge cars were also provided for the "Mountaineer" service between Chicago, St. Paul, and Vancouver. Some idea of the work connected with air-conditioning is given by the pictures above. Cars are stripped, as in lower right, and insulated to keep out heat, cold, and dust. The pictures at the left show some of the material being placed in the cars. The satisfaction written all over the face of the young lady in "Lower 5" expresses the public's feelings toward this new type of controlled comfort. In the centre is a close-up of the control equipment, by which, as the arrows indicate, the individual can regulate the volume and direction of the flow of air.

By-Law 127, confirming the appointment for 1937 of James Ford as secretary-treasurer and assessor was read the required three times and passed.

Application was received from Steve Benko, an employee of a local mine, to rent a portion of the Saad building on Main street for a shoe repair shop. This was laid on the table for further consideration, pending investigation.

A telegram from Mrs. Saad of Rocky Mountain House was read, instructing the council she had cancelled the power of attorney held by her husband who has been here some weeks in connection with trying to regain possession of the property which had been taken over by the town through falling into arrears of taxes. This property is leased to Mrs. John Bell as a confectionery store. Several years ago it was possessed by the town, who will return it to the original owner as soon as arrears and costs are paid.

H. Snowdon appeared on behalf of Mr. Saad, but when he was informed of the telegram the council had received, no further discussion ensued.

Mr. Snowdon also placed before the council an application on behalf of R. Hazzard to lease a portion of Flumerfelt park to erect cabins, a kitchen and other buildings as a tourist camp. He would plant flower beds and make the place attractive. Council decided they would invite the applicant to a council meeting to gain further details as to his plan and financing arrangements.

Cr. Haysom asked that a light be placed on the footpath leading to West Coleman, adjacent to the railway track. This was authorized.

Cash statement of the secretary for January was read, showing expenditures.

Cr. Antrobus asked council if they did not consider a three months report should be submitted regularly by the health officer, Dr. Borden, as payment was made for this service. Some councillors remarked that repeated requests had been made in past years. On motion of Chapman-Antrobus, motion was carried that the council receive report every three months.

Cr. Chapman called attention to the slippery condition of certain sections of cement sidewalk, and pointed out the liability of the town for a damage action should injuries result. The works and property committee was authorized to have this attended to immediately, on motion of Chapman-Borrowers.

A letter from Coleman Light & Water Co. was read, stating an application had been received from Adam Ruska, West Coleman, for water connection to be made, because his well had run dry and he couldn't get any from the neighbors. It was recalled during discussion that water had been laid into homes in West Coleman in years past, involving heavy expense by the town and later people had discontinued the service and used water from wells. As this installation now applied for would involve heavy expense, and no guarantee was made that the applicant would retain the service if his well filled up later on, it was moved that the letter be tabled.

Mr. Snowdon submitted a report to council of collection of some money owing for taxes on Gooley's Laundry, and of a note given promising to pay the balance each month.

E. D. Battman was re-appointed auditor for 1937.

Bills were passed for payment, including a number of relief accounts for groceries supplied families.

An informal discussion took place on sewage disposal from Prize-winners at the Polish hall dance on Monday were Miss Mary Rypien, ticket 25, an alarm clock; second prize, A. Tarcon, box camera, ticket 225. The dance was very enjoyable with a large attendance. The Polish Society express thanks to the public for the support given.

Mrs. M. Clifford and Mrs. Halliwell entertained the Women's Guild of St. Alban's church on Tuesday evening, when whist was played following the business meeting. Typical of Shrove Tuesday, a feature of the lunch was tasty hot pancakes. Prize winners were Mrs. J. Derbyshire, Mrs. Geo. Derbyshire and Mrs. S. Penney, consolation.

Joe Lipovski of the Coleman hotel was beaming with smiles over the arrival of a son last week, and to mark the happy occasion the Elks Lodge, of which he is a member, sent a beautiful bouquet of flowers to Mrs. Lipovski, for which they desire to express their appreciation through The Journal.

Mayor and Mrs. Pattinson returned from Victoria on Tuesday afternoon. Wrestling matches were a source of attraction to the mayor, who attended several while on holiday. Possibly getting the low-down on a few of the tricks of the grunt-and-groan racket, Bill Cole, sr., residing in Victoria, was a companion of the mayor at these sanguinary encounters. "Tough Guys!"

A postcard from Mr. and Mrs. Alex. M. Morrison, who with Dr. and Mrs. McLean are holidaying in California, bears a view of Ramona's marriage place at San Diego, Cal., which they visited. Their present address is at Long Beach, Villa Riviera Apartment Hotel. The Journal keeps them informed of local happenings, being forwarded weekly.

The Grand Union hotel, from which a sewer pipe leads to the Creek on the east end of Main street. Residents in that vicinity had made complaints of the nuisance, and the matter will receive attention. It appears that the sewage disposal system for this hotel was passed on by the provincial inspector. Some councillors remarked that out of consideration for those taxpayers who suffered annoyance from this source, action should be taken as quickly as possible to eliminate the trouble.

Council adjourned at 9.45 p.m.

Rheumatism in Joints Caused Her Intense Pain

Read this letter from a woman describing the manner in which she was afflicted by rheumatism.

"For several years," she writes, "I suffered with rheumatism of the joints, especially in my hands, and this caused me intense pain. I was even afraid to shake hands with anyone, for it made me suffer terribly. I began taking Kruschen Salts regularly, and after a little while my pains disappeared completely. I am naturally delighted with Kruschen." (Miss) K.

The pains and stiffness of rheumatism are frequently caused by deposits of uric acid in the muscles and joints. The numerous salts in Kruschen assist in stimulating your liver and kidneys to healthy, regular action, and so help them to get rid of this excess uric acid.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Rt. Rev. A. W. F. Hunt, Bishop of Bradford, has suggested that the Church of England and the free churches unite in coronation services in parish churches.

An epidemic of broken bones struck Lindsay, Ont. Fourteen leg-fracture cases were treated in hospital, while many broken arms were set and patients sent home.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden indirectly invited Germany to participate in League of Nations disarmament committee sessions in Geneva May 6.

Sir Philip Sassoon, air under-secretary told the House of Commons nine aircraft factories are being built, or will soon be constructed in line with Britain's rearmament program.

Dr. H. H. Kung, Chinese minister of finance, announced he had called $300,000 to Admiral C. T. Grayson, head of the American Red Cross, aid victims of the United States flood.

Twenty-three Alpine soldiers were killed, government officials disclosed, when they were buried under an avalanche of snow while on patrol in the Italian Alps. Bodies of six had been recovered.

An Odd Friendship

Resident of Victoria Has Fed Sea Gull For Eight Winters

After being fed from the hands of W. B. Ryan of Victoria, B.C., for eight winters this sea gull should know his benefactor—and does.

Mr. Ryan instanced a few of the unusual things his odd feathered friend has done.

Once the big bird flew to the hood of his automobile while he was a block away and awaited Ryan's arrival. Several times it has appeared at his club and clamored for a meal.

A member of the firm employing Ryan was embarrassed by the gull fluttering down the street after Ryan.

The gull shows up every year in October and leaves in April. Shortly before he leaves on his annual flight he brings along his new mate for Ryan's approval.

Making Strange Test

Fifty white ants "and a recipe for keeping them alive" are wanted by a radio company in London. The ants will be offered waxed cardboard, insulating tape and similar delicacies. When it has been found what materials they will not eat, the proof reading will be built for the tropics.

Paris must build 10,000 apartments to end a shortage.

Modern birds chew their food with their stomachs, or gizzards.

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES

British Crown Lands

Exchanged By National Treasury For King's Yeasty Grant

As is customary in Britain, the new King, George the Sixth, will turn the crown lands over to the nation during his reign in exchange for a definite yearly grant from the national treasury. The custom dates back to George the Third, but that monarch did not transfer all of the crown lands, but only enough to gain the sums of money he desired. William the Fourth was more impetuous and he was the first sovereign to give up all the crown lands.

The amount of money that King George the Sixth and his Queen will receive from the nation probably has not been determined. The King will send a message to the Commons requesting that they give consideration to the matter and parliament will appoint a committee. The committee will consider not only the needs of the royal family but the possibility of effecting economies. When King Edward the Seventh came to the throne the provision for the Royal Household was eliminated. Only enough, Keir Hardie, the Socialist, spoke at that time as a champion of Queen Alexandra and wished to have $50,000 voted to her as a separate grant. It was explained, then, with the king's permission, that $53,000 of the £10,000 being recommended by the committee for the joint Purse would be allocated to the queen.

George the Fifth accepted a joint Purse of £97,800. In recent years he requested that the sum be reduced to £50,000. King George and Queen Mary were not ostentatious. Whatever the amount for the new King may be it is understood that the nation will gain financially by the arrangement. —Toronto Star Weekly.

New Service For Public

Modern Information Bureau Installed By C.P.E. in Montreal

The first information bureau of its kind in Canada was opened in Montreal, when the Canadian Pacific Railway put into operation its new telephone bureau, comprising the latest equipment of the Bell Telephone Company, and combining several of the railway's former services. After more than a year's research work on the part of the two companies, the new apparatus has been installed. A specially trained staff permits 24-hour service, with five girls handling ten trunk lines, giving information on train times, routes, and passage, parlor and sleeping car fares. By means of a novel switchboard arrangement, immediate connection is made with the sleeping car reservation service if desired. One telephone call will produce the same information under the new system, as two or three under the old.

Comma Makes A Difference

Omission Might Have Made Trouble For Ship's Operator

"The Authority for crews' effects to be taken out of dock premises is usually signed by the Chief Officer of the ship. In the order of discharge it is easy to imagine that this officer finds little time to cross the 't's' and dot the 'i's' but the omission of a comma on a certain pass might have had embarrassing consequences for the bearer. The American newspaper joined the staff of the London Daily Express. He covered the Jamaica earthquake of 1907, revolutions in Catalonia and Portugal, riots in France, the Italian campaign in Tripoli, the Coronation Durbar in India and the Balkan war of 1912-23.

At the outbreak of the Great War he was in Belgium and remained there until the fall of Antwerp late in 1914. Then, with the exception of a brief assignment to the Irish rebellion in 1916, reported the activities on the western front. He was one of the first five accredited war correspondents with the British forces.

Making Air Travel Cheap

New Plane in England Designed For Family Transport

Efforts are being made in Britain to popularize the airplane as a means of family transport. There is now being offered to the general public in that country, and demonstrated over a 3,000-mile circuit, an airplane for which some remarkable claims are being made. It can, it is said, be bought on time, flown, insured and held for as little as $10 a week. It can land or take off in a small field, has a top speed of 80 miles, a cruising speed of 70, and costs less than five cents an hour to fly. Its 10-horsepower engine is said to be easily kept in good order as that of the average small car. —Edmonton Journal.

A Dictionary Word

J. C. Kirkwood, in Marketing, says "Tiffany" is a dictionary word, and it does not mean jewelry or any such thing. It means a muslin cloth. I came across this word in one of Charles Lamb's essays—written well over 100 years ago, and was greatly startled. Immediately consulted dictionaries, and, behold, the word was there.

The gau of Africa has a head like an ox, the body and flowing tail of a horse, and the limbs of an antelope.

WEAK, LISTLESS, NO APPETITE

Troubled with Constipation, Couldn't Sleep, "Fruity-tives" Brought Quick Relief.

"For many years I was troubled with constipation," says Miss M. E. Johnson, St. Stephen, N.B. "I was weak, listless and had little appetite; my complexion was sallow and I spent a good many nights broken rest. I started taking Fruity-tives, and almost at once was enjoying my food. My complexion improved and I began to sleep soundly. The Fruity-tives are made from extracts of fruits and herbs, and act to stimulate the liver and flow of bile, cleanse the elimination tract of wastes and poisons and tend to purify the blood stream of acids that often cause ill-health. For sale everywhere and the result on genuine Fruity-tives.

Thou Shalt Not Love

— A NOVEL BY —
GEORGIA GRAIG

That was the only thing she had not told Michael—about Tut-Am-en-Ra's cause. She could not bring herself to that, thinking of what terror there would be in his eyes. She had told him much about herself, though, of her parentage, and mentioned that her father was an archaeologist who had taken her to Egypt with him, but that he was dead now, and she was alone.

Michael was astonished and pleased. "Elliott," he mused. "The Professor Bruno Elliott? Why, he was famous, Starr, darling." He laughed exultantly. "Wonder what Stephanie and the rest of them who are living on the glory of ancestors who accomplished things in the dim past would think if they knew you were his daughter!"

In a way she explained how she had come to be in the La Luna that night, told of her loneliness and her yearning to see a little of life, the bright lights. Michael said:

"What an idiot of a bouncer I was! I should have seen it the minute I clapped eyes on you. . . . Perhaps I did, but in my stubbornness refused to see. Thank heaven all that's forgotten. Starr—I'll spend the rest of my life making up to you, if I can."

But nothing about the curse of Tut-Am-en-Ra! Nothing of the six months of life that had been given her!

Safe in the arms of a flesh and blood lover it was difficult to realize that she had ever allowed her life to be dominated by a three-thousand-year-old curse. This was Twentieth Century America. A million people would laugh off the curse of Tut-Am-en-Ra as mere foolishness belonging to a forgotten age.

But then, she remembered, a million people had not seen her father and John Lessing die. They had not seen that ancient priestess, Amen-Sun, whom her lover would protect even in death, crumble into dust.

Fervently Starr reasoned with herself. Trying to ascribe the deaths of the two men to natural causes. Neither of them were young—they had been a strenuous expedition—the desert could sap men's strength and energy. . . . Trying to explain away her own physical and mental depression as due to the great natural curse of modern women—nerves.

She reiterated to herself: "It can't hurt me now. I can't let it let it! I'll fight for Michael's sake!"

Then startlingly came the first shadow to cut through her happiness. They had completely lost touch with city life, with their friends, and with what everybody was doing. They had not even troubled to pick up the daily papers that were left scattered around the living room and on the porch. The old farm people noticed that and smiled. They knew what it was to live in a world apart!

3 "Aspirin" tablets with a full glass of water at first sign of a cold.

Quick Relief with 2 "ASPIRIN" Tablets

The modern way to treat a cold is this: "Two 'Aspirin' tablets the moment you feel a cold coming on. Repeat, if necessary, in two hours. If you have a sore throat with the cold, dissolve 3 'Aspirin' tablets in 1/2 glass of water and gargle with this twice. The 'Aspirin' you take internally will act to combat fever, aches, pains and the cold itself. The gargle will provide almost instant relief from soreness and rawness of your throat. Your doctor, we feel sure, will approve this modern way of treating a cold.

Then he laughed, slipping an arm about her shoulders as he sat down on the arm of her chair.

"Seriously, Starr, I'm afraid we'll have to cut short our stay in Paradise. I had no idea work could pile up as it has, and the old man is getting restless. There is no season of the year for extended—or unexpected—vacations. Do you think we can drag ourselves back to New York to Swift?"

Swift alarm leaped into her dark eyes. She cried, looking up at him with tensed pleading:

"Oh, Michael, I don't want to go back! Not tomorrow, nor any other day!"

Michael bent down and kissed her. "But darling, we can't rusticate here forever. Of course it will be a bit of an ordeal for us both to face, considering the way we buried our bridges behind us. But we'll face the music. Heads up, honey! You care! We've got each other—that's all that counts—really. I have to get back on the job and make a lot of money, you know, for you, and for our family-to-be."

It was the first time since their marriage that he had mentioned children. It affected Starr queerly, arousing disturbing recollections of other occasions when babies had been mentioned. And as much as she yearned for them, babies were among the hidden things of her life. Which Michael did not know, of course, and must never know. She had broken one commandment—"Thou Shalt Not Love"—But there still remained "Thou Shalt Not Marry."

Suddenly she was overcome with a wave of her old depression. But her fear was increased a hundredfold now, because of the complication of being Michael's wife.

She felt herself drifting back. As if it were somebody else's voice, she heard herself saying duly:

"I don't want to go back. Our love here is so perfect, Michael. It won't be the same."

Michael said, with that cheerful, careless laugh of his: "Of course it will be. I'll still throw you a kiss now and then." All the time his eyes were laughing at her. He did not understand, of course, that they would stay in the penthouse with the Egyptian furnishings, for the time being, but their real home was to be of the most modern.

"I imagine you'll be more comfortable among your own Lares and Penates, Starr, darling," he insisted, "than in my own entirely makeshift bachelor domain. But we won't stay there. We'll come out of Egypt as soon as we can. No mummyrhyth windows for us! We're going to have the kind we can throw open wide and look out on the world!" He laughed then. "By Jove, I never thought of it before, but I wonder if windows like that wouldn't be just the thing to keep babies from falling out!"

Starr forced herself to smile up at him. "They use them in Egypt," she reminded, "to keep wives in. You'll not need them for me, Michael-Hassan."

Sapphira was overwhelmingly glad to see both of them, and fluttered over them like a comfortably feathered hen who had just found her lost chickens.

"Lawsy me, Miss Starr!" she exclaimed. "How good you do look! Want I to tell you what you needed was to get married and stop all your foolishness!"

Starr laughed back at her, but it was happily. "I imagine before we're here very long, Sapphira, that we're going to discover there are a good many who'll consider I've committed the height of my foolishness!"

"We don't care, do we?" Michael asked, and Starr slid into his arms. "Why should we, darling?" He kissed her.

Among the first things Starr did when she was settled in the city again was to send the diamond and wire opal bracelet back to Lance Marlowe by an armed messenger. Only the terrific monetary value of the thing had prevented her from sending it back through the mails before.

Weeks later she met him at an informal gathering, and he mentioned the incident of the bracelet, implying that he had been the victim of a fraud. She enclosed no note with the bauble when she returned it.

"Oh, you'll find someone else who will wear it much better than I ever could, Lance," she told him.

Lance said quietly: "My tastes must have changed, Starr, maybe I'm getting old, I haven't been able to find anyone else yet—or wanted to."

But Lance Marlowe had not changed, as Starr discovered in the next interchange. He never would change. She flushed deeply as he added in a low voice: "My yacht is being renovated. It may not be the proper season for it, but I'm sailing soon for Hawaii, alone." He looked at her oddly, and Starr recognized that in his mind she was still "Play-Girl."

He seemed to be of the opinion of "Play-Girl" being faithful, even though married. "I had hoped—"

Not A New Science

Plastic Surgery Has Developed Gradually From Early Background

The plastic surgeon's job is for the most part a grim business. People injured in accidents, by burns, and damage caused by removal of growths form the bulk of the specialist's patients.

On the surface, plastic surgery might seem to be the newest of medical techniques, but it is not, according to Dr. Fulton Ridsdon, one of Toronto's best known specialists. During the war Dr. Ridsdon worked side by side with Sir Harold Gillies, noted English plastic surgeon, whose recent operation to restore the features of a girl horribly burned was described as a "miracle."

"During the war we thought we had got hold of something new," said Dr. Ridsdon, "but later when we had time to go into the matter we found that there was an early background. The science had developed gradually."

But the war did for plastic surgery what it did for many early inventions, like the aeroplane. It is an urgent need for "forced development" and brought results never before obtained. Surrounded by men mutilated by shot and shell, doctors simply had to "do something." As a result, hundreds of men now are able to lead a normal life.

But it was several years after the war that a Dutch scientist, Dr. Esser, made the greatest single improvement in plastic surgery. "Skin grafts had a tendency to 'float up' because of accumulated blood and serum under the new skin," said Dr. Ridsdon, "and then Dr. Esser wrote an article describing the use of pressure on the grafted area, resulting in the new skin growing to match the surrounding skin." — Toronto Star Weekly.

New Set-Up For India

First Responsible Government Is Soon To Be Elected

Thirty million electors—of whom more than 5,000,000 are women—will shortly vote in British India on the first stage of responsible government. It's a form of responsible government rigorously bound out by living safeguards, but it's a beginning.

It's the beginning of the great scheme to create a United States of India. The Government of India Act of 1935 contemplates the creation of a federal union of the provinces of British India and those native states which bewilderingly dovetail into the provinces of British India, states not actually British territory, who subjects are not British, yet having the same rights of representation, vital to the welfare of India as a whole.

The section of the act granting autonomous government to the provinces of British India does not need to wait for the wider federal scheme. It comes into force April 1. Under it legislative assemblies will be elected in 11 provinces of British India. Legislative councils or upper houses will, in addition, be chosen in Madras, Bombay, Bengal and United Provinces, Bihar and Assam.

A True Westerner

First White Child Born In Battledore Dies In Winnipeg Hospital

Roderick W. McKinnon, 52, chief engineer of the reclamation branch of the Manitoba department of public works, died recently in a Winnipeg hospital. He had undergone an operation.

Born in Battledore, then in the Northwest Territories, in 1884, the son of a Hudson's Bay Company factor, he was the first white child born in that north Saskatchewan city. Both his parents died a year after he was born, and Mr. McKinnon was taken to relatives in Sydney, N.S. He graduated in engineering from Dalhousie University.

Coming to the west in 1907, he joined the staff of the Canadian Northern Railways in Alberta, entering the Manitoba government service in 1912. A widow survives.

Found Fishing Profitable

Australian Fished In Valuable Ornaments Which Had Been Stolen

Harvey Bachelor dropped his bent-up fish-hook into the waters of Darchin Creek, Northcote, Australia, and waited for a fish to bite. He felt a tug at his lines and pulled in a silver ornament.

He tried again and pulled in another glittering piece.

Finally he took his catch—valued at $800—to a police where articles were identified as loot from a Synagogue burglary.

Harvey was suitably rewarded by 2189 members of the community.

Little Helps For This Week

The Lord is my light and my salvation, whom shall I fear? The Lord is the strength of my life, of whom shall I be afraid. Psalm 27:1.

Thou hidden source of calm repose.

Thou all-sufficient Love divine, My Help and Refuge from my foes.

Secure I am while Thou art mine, And lo! from sin and grief and shame I hide myself in Thy dear name.

Whatever troubles come on you of mind, body or estate, from within or from without, from friends or foes, though you be lonely, children of a heavenly Father be not afraid. Whatever befalls thee receive it not from the hand of any creature but from Him alone, who sends it back to Him the purifying and subduing of thyself. What can harm thee when all must first touch God. How He rejoices over a soul which, although it is surrounded on all sides by suffering and misery, does that upon earth which the angels do in heaven, namely loves, adores, and praises Him.

An East Indian Flower

Owned By Chinese Girl Blooms After 103 Years

The delayed bloom of a flower owned by Miss S. Y. Chao, daughter of the manager of a Chinese newspaper in Shanghai, has just been witnessed after a lapse of 103 years. Known as the "Pansy" or, sometimes, "East Indian flower," it is one of three specimens in the entire Far East, and has been in the Chao family for many generations. Some vapour flowers, it is stated, have known to live as long as 800 years without blooming.

Seed Exchange Plan

With somewhat more money available for the drought areas of Alberta, the seed exchange plan operated successfully during recent years will be continued during 1937. Basis of the plan is that farmers in Alberta may exchange ordinary grain for registered and certified varieties and, with certain limitations the Dominion will bear shipping charges.

Ice Carnival Provided Lots of Amusement

Pee-Wee Hockey Game Won By Blairmore Score of 2-1.

The ice carnival staged at the arena last night proved a great success and was well attended by both young and old. The highlight was the Pee Wee hockey game between A. E. Ferguson's Pee Wees and Alex Easton's Blairmore youngsters packed too much punch in the second period for the Coleman players and wiped out a one goal lead held by Coleman in the first period on a goal by Slugg. Gierolski put Blairmore on even terms on a well taken goal and Erickson put the visitors ahead, unassisted, on a close in shot.

As an added incentive to the youngsters to give of their best, Wm. Bell gave a $5 prize to the player judged the most valuable to his team, Jimmy Evans being appointed judge. Gierolski of the Blairmore team had a slight edge over the rest of the players with a goal and many brilliant plays and was awarded the prize.

Costume contest winners: Best dressed girl, Kathleen McLellan; best dressed boy, Ronald Colagrosso; best comic girl, Ella Yates; best comic boy, Daisy Lochrie.

Winners in the races were: Girls under 12, K. McLellan; boys under 12, M. Osinchuk; girls over 16, Mrs. R. Kwasnie; boys over 16, R. Emmerson.

Alex Easton, lessee of the arena, thanks the following for contributing prizes: Coleman Hardware, Ladies' Store, Pattinson's Hardware, Webster's store, Frank Abousafy, McBurney's Drug Store, Chas. Nicholas, Coleman Co-Op., Coleman Hotel, Grand Union Hotel, Zak's Meat Market.

Luscar in Play-offs

Luscar Indians are definitely in the senior play-offs. A telegram was received from the northern club this week stating that if Canadians agreed to guarantee "adequate" expenses they were willing to come to Coleman for the best two games out of three. The local club is now negotiating with Luscar as to the amount they think adequate: $550 being the figure suggested by Coleman executive. Definite word is promised by H. C. McBurney within the next day or to as two final arrangements.

Luscar has permission of the A.A. H. A. to choose either Edmonton or Calgary for their home game if negotiations with Coleman fall through.

Coleman's song writer, Albert Knowles, is busily engaged composing numerous songs. He has written 67, also poems and a play. Several have been published. A play written by him and presented at a Salvation Army concert elicited favorable comment. He intends sending forty of his songs to various publishing houses where he is confident his work will be given fair criticism.

Old Country Readers

Recently The Journal received a renewal subscription from Mr. A. H. Slade, of Stockport, Eng., who will be remembered as supervising the construction of the coal cleaning machinery at McGillivray plant two years ago. He states he reads with interest the record of local activities and items concerning people with whom he became acquainted while here. Another renewal was that of Mr. Garfield Jones, Caerleon, Wales, whose sons Wyndham and Reg. are well known here. These overseas readers read The Journal with as much interest as those living here.

Pat Conroy in Pass

As district representative of the United Mine Workers of America, District 18, Mr. Conroy is making a survey of the local field here on behalf of the original miners organization to which all mine workers in this field at one time belonged. He originally came from Glasgow and has taken an active part for many years in mine workers affairs, his views being often published in the Drumheller Mail.

Mrs. Fisher and daughter, Doreen, of Medicine Hat, visited in Coleman last week. While here they were the guests of Mrs. Wm. Fraser.
